

brief guide to database management

Did you know Nucleus IP can maintain your Trade Mark database for you?

Nucleus IP's Records Management Database contains the case details for all of the IP rights owned by our clients for which we are responsible. The remote access service provides secure on-line access to case information in respect of their Trade Marks, Registered Designs, Domain Names and contentious matters.

How does it work?

Using a wide range of search criteria including Country, Type of case, Trade Mark description, application or registration number, clients are able to search the database and view individual cases held on the system. Clients can obtain details of protection sought or secured, proprietorship, application and renewal dates, application or registration numbers, specification of goods or services covered. A representation of the logo can also be viewed.

A case summary, including the logo can be viewed or printed.

Also available are scanned copies of many important documents such as registration and renewal certificates, assignment and licensing documentation, all of which can be downloaded and copies printed.

Can I get a report showing all my Trade Marks?

There is a range of standard reports available within the system which include basic case information and it is possible to obtain a detailed report covering your entire portfolio or based on specific criteria, for example to show where particular marks are registered or which marks are registered in certain countries.

Where clients require particular information to be included in a report we are able to create bespoke fields within our database to accommodate these requests.

If a bespoke report is required this can be designed at Nucleus IP and then made available for clients to run whenever they wish via the remote access service.

When is the service available?

The service is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week - worldwide. Wherever you are, if you have connection to the internet then you can connect to our service.

Simply connect to the Nucleus IP website and select View your Portfolio online now, enter your username and password and all the information is available.

How up to date is the information available?

The information is in real-time. As data is pulled directly from our live database, as case records are updated the information is immediately reflected on the remote access system and available to any user signed up to the service.

What about cases which are not Nucleus IP's responsibility?

These cases can be loaded onto our database as "Record Purposes Only" and Nucleus IP would not be responsible for monitoring any deadlines.

Depending on the number of cases involved and the size of your portfolio under Nucleus IP's care this may be achieved free of charge.

How secure is the system?

The Remote Access System is completely secure. All access is password protected and clients only have access to their own records. It is even possible, should clients require, for individuals within their own organisation to have limited access to certain records. As access is on a read only basis, there is no risk that a client might accidentally change the data.

This all sounds great...but very expensive!

It is a FREE Service offered by Nucleus IP to all our clients.
